Protest Craigslist

The Coalition Against Trafficking in Women (CATW) in partnership with Prostitution Research and Education (PRE) and other co-sponsors held a protest in front of Craigslist Headquarters in San Francisco on July 8th to bring attention to Craigslist's facilitation of and profiting from sex trafficking. "Craigslist continues to cynically profit by functioning as an online pimp," says Norma Ramos, Executive Director of CATW. "Craigslist is the new stroll where pimps traffic, johns buy and Craigslist profits," says Melissa Farley, Executive Director, PRE.

Craigslist is projected to realize a 22% increase in revenue - an estimated $36 million in 2010 - largely attributable to its functioning as a virtual red light district for pimps/traffickers and johns. Craigslist displays a reckless disregard for human rights by increasingly becoming a part of the sex industry. Craigslist could act to create a sex trafficking free internet by no longer hosting prostitution ads and thereby setting an industry standard.

What did you do for summer vacation?

For a group of high school girls from Salem, Oregon, it includes a road trip to San Francisco for the annual Nun Run. This tradition started several years ago in southern Oregon when a group from Ashland, Oregon headed to California to visit different religious communities.

News of its success traveled to Salem and the tradition continues. These young women spend a weekend celebrating their vocation to love God and, more uniquely, how to love God as women. Over the course of the long weekend the ladies visit several different religious communities to meet women who have discerned that their vocation is consecrated religious life.

For the 2010 Nun Run religious orders visited include Contemplative Dominicans, Sisters of the Holy Family, Poor Clares, Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose, Sisters of Perpetual Adoration, as well as visits to local churches and missions. Please keep these young women in your prayers as they discern how God is calling them to Love.

2010 Mission Campaign Online Auction September 18 to October 13 You Can Help

The proceeds from the Online Auction will benefit the Mission Fund of the Sisters of the Holy Family. As you know, the Mission Fund supports the ministries you are dedicated to, such as anti-trafficking, immigrant justice, Catholic education, and the Day Homes.

Last year we were able to raise more than $15,000. We want this Auction to be even more successful. But to make it outstanding, we will need your help.

*Will you ask your friends and family to donate?
What sells best? Jewelry, religious items, gift cards or small household items.
Anything new or gently-used is welcome.*
